1) Introduction:-

Government has issued the guidelines for shifting telecom service providers to the new Unified Licenses regime, wherein the spectrum is not given along with the permits as has been done in the past.

After coming into force of the Unified License, all the existing licenses issued under Section 4 of the Indian Telegraph Act 1885 shall stand automatically converted to the Unified License. This will be the Unified License.

On conversion, the validity of the Unified License shall be same as the validity of existing license. The conditions of Unified License shall be the same as existing license.

The services under such a license will be restricted to the service(s) that the Licensee could offer and to the service area(s) permitted under the existing license. In case an existing licensee after conversion to Unified License wishes to provide services permitted within the scope of service under Unified License but which are not covered under its old license, then it will have to apply for Unified License.

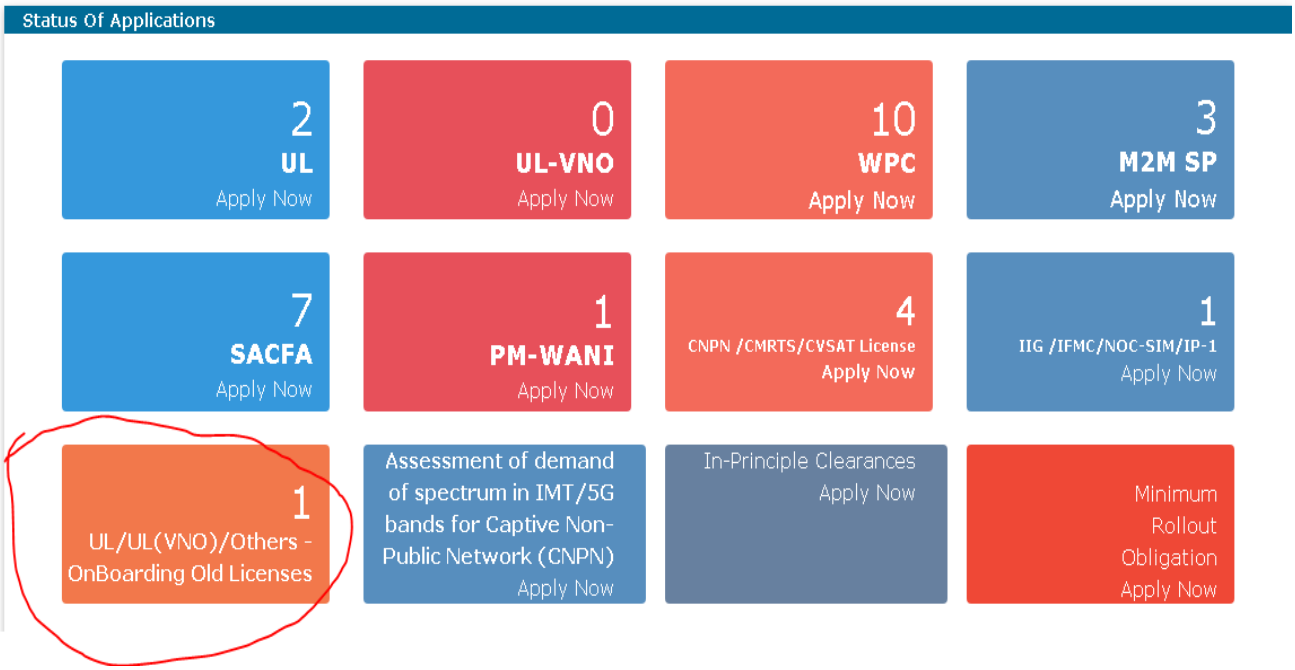

For conversion to the Unified License, there shall be no additional entry fee to be paid by the licensee.

A holder of Unified License shall have the option to apply for and migrate to a Unified License.

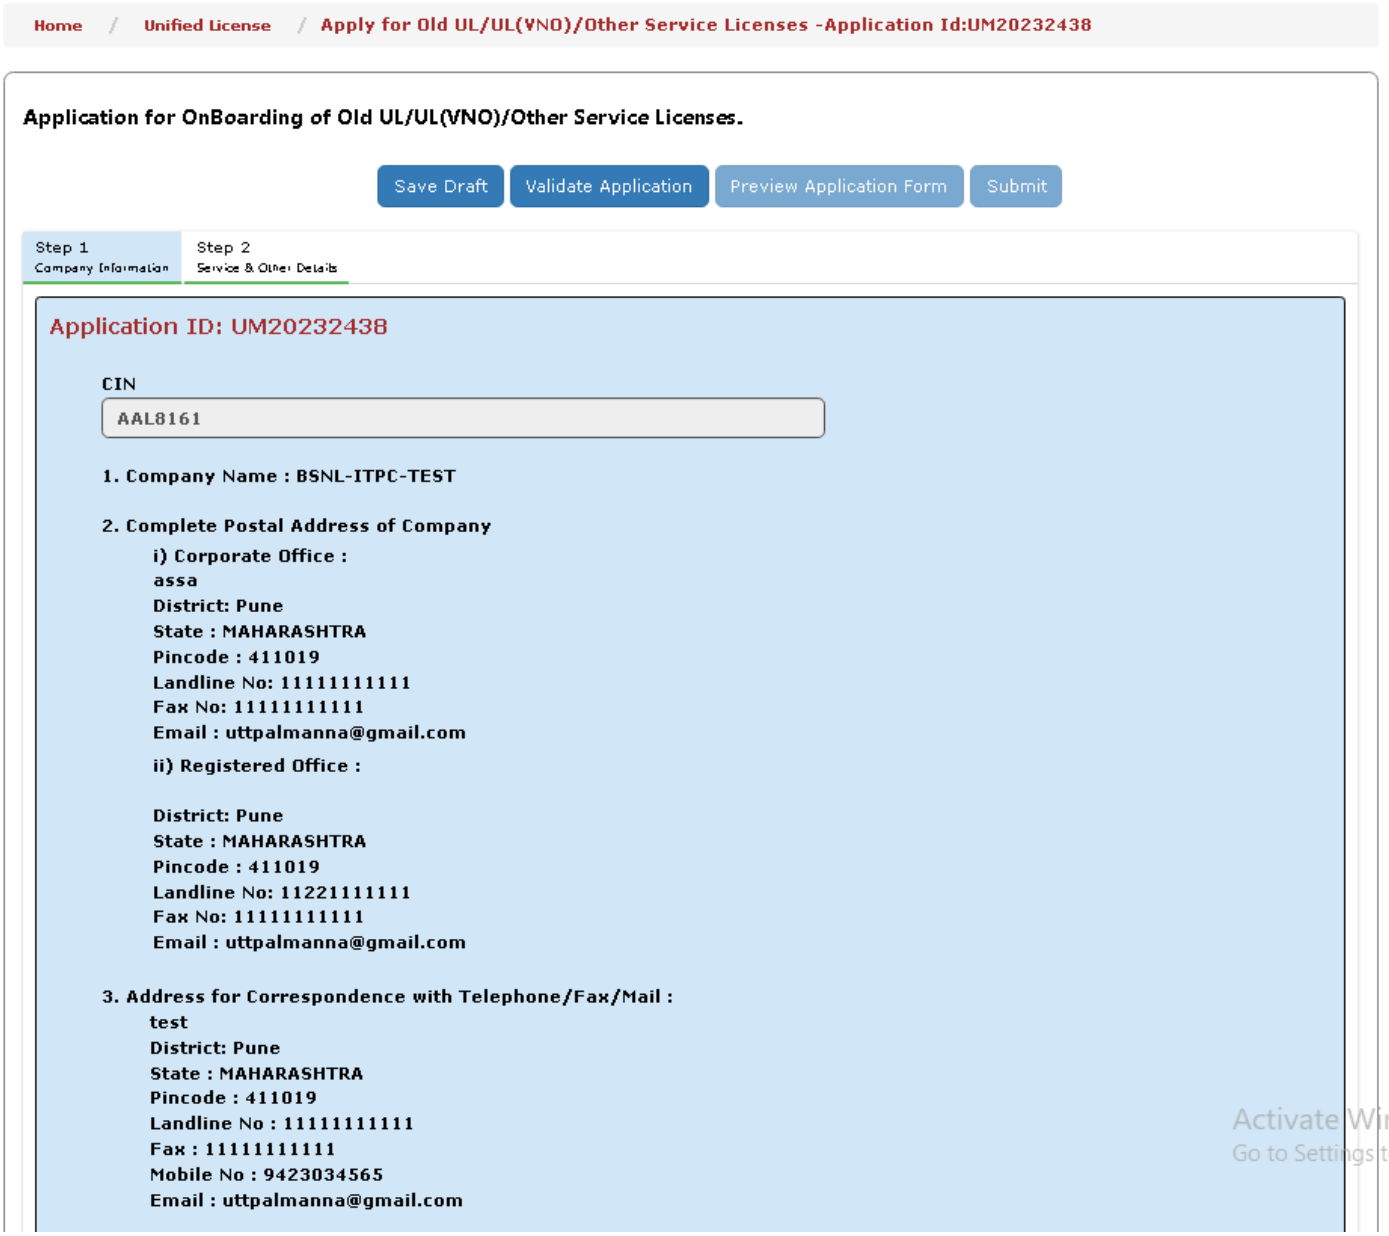

In the event a holder of Unified License desires to expand/alter the service(s) offered or service area(s) of operations, it shall be required to migrate to Unified License and pay the prescribed entry fee.
